Hedland west end dust

Hi,

I just read the report and while it says there is dust in the west end and the town should reduce the people I didn't see any where that the main people making the dust have to stop the dust from getting to the west end. Why should people who have lived in the west end for years have there homes and businesses price values be slash because other company's can not control there dust.

Look at Geraldton port. It sits in the middle of town but do they have the same issue? Yes Hedland ships a lot more cargo through the port but that doesn't matter. Also if it is that bad to live there how are the employees able to work in those place's.

Just my thought

Thanks
